- Do you have a good grounding in insurance related work?
- Do you enjoy working in a team?
- Looking for quality varied work?
- Would you relish the flexibility to use your wider skills in order to develop yourself at this stage in your legal career, whether this is taking responsibility for an IT project, improving your language skills, preparing technical bulletins, running marketing projects or presenting training to insurer clients?
- Do you have about 4-5 years PQE?

As a boutique insurance firm, Carter Perry Bailey, has a flexible and collegiate environment where each person is recognised for their individual attributes. You will be exposed to good quality insurance and reinsurance related work advising predominantly on coverage and defence work relating to a range of insurance products and reinsurance issues. Some work will involve non-contentious drafting, compliance and regulatory advice.

A sound understanding of insurance and reinsurance law principles is required. However, training from our experienced team will be provided in any areas where you may have had less exposure to date during your career.

Much of our work has an international element. CPB has been the sole UK representative for Insuralex (www.insuralex.com) for over 10 years – a Chambers Grade 1 global network of like-minded insurance and reinsurance legal specialists.

Our size brings responsibility and flexibility – offering the opportunity for you to progress more quickly in your career. Each person's voice is heard and you have the chance to make your mark!

Important attributes include:

- Ability to build strong relationships with clients and contacts
- Willingness to develop your particular skills and attributes, as part of a team – whether this is running a marketing project involving a hobby or sport or contributing to insurance industry groups so that you can 'give back' while improving your knowledge of your clients' sector and the demands that they face day-to-day
- An eye for detail
- Clear written and spoken communication skills

- Strong analytical capability and sound research skills
- Ability to work on your own cases and as part of a team on high-value and multi-party claims.

The insurance team also offers the opportunity for a secondment to a leading claims team.

At interview, we would like to hear about examples of your experience to date, whether this is, for example, professional indemnity, property & casualty, life/protection, Accident & Health, Fine Art & Specie, product liability, marine or aviation. What wider skills and experience can you offer and wish to develop?
